

CHSTM LUNCHTIME SEMINARS

October - December 2010

1 p.m. in Room 2.57, Simon Building, Brunswick Street. Everyone is welcome.

- 5th October Alexander Hall, University of Manchester
'The risk was an outside chance': Experts and blame in a post war setting
- 12th October Emily Hankin, University of Manchester
Electricity, the refrigerator and domestic space in 1930s Britain
- 19th October Juan Manuel Rodriguez Caso, University of Leeds
The study of man in BAAS meetings during the period 1860-1872
- 26th October Ellen Van Reuler, University of Manchester
Palliative care policy in England and the Netherlands, c. 1965-2010
- 2nd November No Seminar
- 9th November Jakob Whitfield, University of Manchester
Knowledge transfer and early axial compressor theory
- 16th November Michael Weatherburn, Imperial College London
The British Communist Party's response to scientific management, 1926-45
- 23rd November Rachael Russell, University of Manchester
Deceptive, Peculiar, and Hysterical: Habits of the Female Stomach and Mind, 1860-1900
- 30th November Emily Phillips, University of York
Exploding Borders - Creating Membranes in Art, Technology and Society? Notes from a "Bioart" Exhibition
- 7th December Nicholas Duvall, University of Manchester
The laboratory and forensic medicine in pre-war Scotland
- 14th December Maurizio Esposito, University of Leeds
From Organic Morphogenesis to Liberal Socialism: Eugenio Rignano and the "Centro-Epigenetic" Hypothesis of Heredity and Development

For more information on any of the above seminars please contact:
Alexander.hall@postgrad.manchester.ac.uk